

Privacy

Saturday, 26 January 2008

Last Updated Monday, 28 January 2008

We respect your privacy and we will not reveal your name, address or any other personal information to any other company.

We will not send you promotional offers or any informational emails unless you have specifically allowed them when ordering our software.

Information collected from the website logs will not be revealed to any other company and information itself is used only to monitor statistics of our website usage.

Please see also privacy policy of our payment provider, Emetrix.